Child Custody

You can ask a judge to make custody orders for your children. There are two types of custody in California: legal and physical custody.

- Legal custody means the person that makes decisions about the child's health, education, and welfare.
- Physical custody means the person that the child regularly lives with.

For both types of custody, parents can share custody (joint) or one parent can have full custody (sole).

Visitation (Parenting Time) with Children

You can ask a judge to make decisions about when your child spends time with the person in (2). This is called parenting time or visitation. It means the schedule and exact times each parent spends with the child. If a parent does not get custody, that parent can have parenting time with the child if a judge believes it is safe and in the child's best interest. Answer the questions below to tell the judge what parenting time you want right now for person in (2). Any orders the judge makes are temporary for now. They last until the court date (about three weeks away). On your court date, the judge can change or extend the orders.

10 Do you want the person in (2) to have visits (parenting time) with the children?

☐ No, I ask the judge to order that person in (2) have no visits. (Stop here. You have finished completing this form.)
